

I Think I'm Going Quackers

by peskipiksi

Why is there a rubber duck on Snape's desk?

I Think I'm Going Quackers

Chapter 1 of 1

Why is there a rubber duck on Snape's desk?

Thank God it was Friday, Severus thought. Although Hermione would probably be working. Developing a charm to protect Muggle technology from magic meant she often brought work home from the Ministry to Hogwarts...

Severus stared. There was a rubber duck on his desk. And a brightly coloured catalogue. An adult catalogue. As he looked at the highlighted product, Severus's surprise turned to anticipation. He turned the duck over. There was a battery compartment... and a Post-It note in his wife's handwriting: "Friday night is bath night".

Severus smirked. Never had he been so pleased his wife brought her work home.

*

A/N: My first true drabble – 100 words exactly. From an old SND prompt: 'Severus finds a rubber duck on his desk'. This is that very duck:
<http://www.lovehoney.co.uk/product.cfm?p=21062>