

Warm Me Up

by articcatt621

Hermione and Severus share a moment on a cold, snowy day.

Drabble

Chapter 1 of 1

Hermione and Severus share a moment on a cold, snowy day.

Hermione watched the snow fall through the large bedroom window.

"Come back to bed," Severus grumbled, shifting under the sheets. "It's cold without you."

She glanced over her shoulder and looked at her lover. She smiled. "Well, I suppose I'll just have to warm you up."

Severus held up the duvet, allowing Hermione to slide under. Her naked body pressed up against his, and she immediately shivered. "Severus, why are you so cold?"

He chuckled, pressing a kiss to the base of her neck. "Thin blood." He kissed her again. "Now come on, Hermione, warm me up."

She happily obliged.