

Severus Snape Sung to Good King Wenceslas

by JustJeanette

Yes, JustJeanette is still filking. A new carol filk for the HP Universe.

Another HP Carol.

Chapter 1 of 1

Yes, JustJeanette is still filking. A new carol filk for the HP Universe.

Severus Snape for he look out on the feast of sorting
While the children milled about, he was quietly snorting
Softly glowed the sorting hat, in his hands a-resting
Soon to sit on children's heads, their hearts a-testing
Hermione, come and stand by me, lead them to the table
Yonder student who is she, that draws the eyes of Sable
Potters' child, I think, my Love, knew we she was coming
But to think it's our Son's eyes, for a Potter glowing Call them up in orderly time, core attributes within them
Cunning, Courage, Loyal, or Learned; to their houses sort them
Wizards, witches, to your houses; houses they will protect you
Through the years of learning still, and powers ever growing
In their dungeon, safe and sound, free from eyes a prying
Beat their hearts so quickly now, tears of joy a-flowing Mark the passing Hogwarts years with Snape and Granger leading Child of magic, your home's here, in the Mages' caring

