

A Very Long Christmas Eve Day

by articcat621

Hermione and Severus are woken up by their son, Silas.

Drabble

Chapter 1 of 1

Hermione and Severus are woken up by their son, Silas.

A/N: The GS100 challenge prompt for this drabble was "Christmas Eve Day." Many thanks to Krissy for looking this over.

Disclaimer: JKR owns the world and characters of HP, not me. I'm not making any money from the posting of this drabble.

A Very Long Christmas Eve Day

"Mummy! Daddy! Wake up!" A small black-haired boy jumped up and down on the bed, trying to wake his parents up.

Hermione groggily opened her eyes. "Silas? What is it? What's wrong?"

Silas stopped jumping and looked at his mother wide-eyed. "Mummy! It's Christmas Eve Day! Why aren't you up? Daddy, up!"

Severus groaned, putting his pillow over his face.

"Silas, go back to bed," Hermione said. "Tomorrow is the fun day."

"No, today is!" Silas insisted. He started to pull on his mother's hand. "Up! Up!"

Hermione groaned. It was going to be a very long Christmas Eve Day.