"You try opening this door!"

"Ten points from Gryffindor for your impertinence, Miss Granger."

"I'm going to kill whoever did this! Those ruddy bastards!"

"I'd suggest that you cease your incessant muttering and at least try to use your brain to think of something that won't give you a free one-way ticket to Azkaban."

"... Bugger!"

"Miss Granger, remove your hands from my person this instant!"

"Sorry, Professor, I'm just trying to find my wand."

"Good point. Hang on, what's that thumping noise, George?"

"Seriously, Fred!"

"So, Fred, how long do you think we should leave them in there?"

"Well, it's Valentine's Day today, isn't it?"

"Ah... I see what you're thinking, Fred."

"They're going to nag and mutter about what a ridiculous idea of holiday it is..."

"So, we might as well keep them there till tomorrow."

"Exactly, George."

"Smashing idea, Fred!"

"Professor, I can't find my wand."

"How wonderful! The supposedly smartest witch in Hogwarts has forgotten her wand."

"Sneering isn't going to help the situation."

"It wasn't designed to help any situation, Miss Granger."

"Then shouldn't you at least do something that is going to help us get out of here?"

"Who says I'm not doing anything?"

"Now that I think about it, where's your wand, Professor?"

"Hm..."

"Well?"

"It's in my lab."

"Hogwarts' Potions master forgot his wand too!"

"Insolent girl."

"Snarky git."

"Wait... Hey, isn't that your wand, Professor?"

"THAT is most certainly not my wand, Miss Granger."

"Here, you can use my cloak."

"Thank you, Professor."

"Professor..."

"Yes?"

"Who do you think got us stuck in here?"

"Potter... or... Weasley."

"Now, now, Professor, don't let your bias cloud your judgement."

"I'm not biased!"

"Has it ever occurred to you that Harry and Ron would rather belch up slugs than see us together?"

"Er..."

"I thought not."

"No need to sound so smug, Miss Granger."

"Yeah, right..."

"Go back to sleep or whatever it's that you are doing."

"But..."

"No buts, Miss Granger. I'd like some peace and quiet."

"Professor..."

"Hm...?"

"Can I hug you?"

"What?!"

"I read somewhere that said hugging increases body heat."

"Hmm..."

"Please?"

"Hmm..."

"Surely you don't want me to die from frostbite."

"... Fine!"

"I'm glad you see things my way."

"Perhaps you'd like some coffee?"

"Ten points for your cheek, Miss Granger."

"I wonder what Molly cooked for breakfast this morning?"

"... Argh!"

"Ouch! What did you pinch me for?"

"Sorry. I was trying to see if I've landed in some alternate universe. Do you always talk this much?"

"Humph! You don't sound sorry at all."

"Professor..."

"What!"

"I can't move."

"Use your legs, idiotic girl."

"I'm not an idiotic girl!"

"Damn it!"

"What's wrong?"

"Grr..."

"Don't grunt..."

"Look!"

"Wait, it's the wrong season. What's the mistletoe doing here?"

"Er..."

"Does that mean we have to kiss?"

"I presume a peck will be sufficient."

"Professor, I think you are supposed to kiss my cheek, not my hair."

"Grr..."

"Professor, I'll see you at the Order meeting."

"... Miss Granger."

"Yes?"

"Any word to anyone about what happened today, especially those friends of yours, and I'll see to it that Gryffindor will lose so many house points that your house mates will be spending the next decade compensating for it."

"Understood, sir."
