

Reflections in the Mirror

by Granger21

The thoughts in a moment looking in a mirror and a journey through the life.

Mirror Shows Only Your Image, Not Your Heart's Desire

Chapter 1 of 1

The thoughts in a moment looking in a mirror and a journey through the life.

The reflection

Is all that you let me see

The reflection

Is what I do not wish to be.

The secrecy

It's what you hide behind

The secrecy

It's always on my mind.

Why can't you be

Someone that I can turn to

Why can't you be

Someone

That will always be by my side.

Why won't you show

The face you have inside

Why won't you show

The person you have to hide.

What is this reflection
The reflection of your secret life
Why is it that I can only see
A little part of me.
Why Am I the only one
To see what I have to hide
A different person,
Is staring back at me.
This is not who I used to be.
I used to be a little girl,
With two pig-tails
And a ready smile,
I used to be my daddy's girl
Always there,
He was my knight.
I used to be the schoolgirl
With a plaid skirt
And a ready face,
Willing to try.
I used to be my parent's child
Always there
With a ready smile.
I used to be that.
And now I see,
The reflection before me
And I cannot see,
The little girl,
The schoolgirl.
All I have is distant memories,
All I wish to be back there
Where monsters were
Under the bed,
Not some guy on the internet.
I wish I could be back there
Where my daddy's hand
Was my guide
Where my love knew no bounds
Where everything was alright
I wish I could be back there
To say
I love you
One more time.