

Severus Snape, Lucius Malfoy, and the Skiving Snackbox

by nogod1215

Tempest Of Dreams has set up a drabble generator on her LJ. I was given Severus Snape, Lucius Malfoy and Skiving Snackboxes. This is what I came up with in response.

Drabble

Chapter 1 of 1

Tempest Of Dreams has set up a drabble generator on her LJ. I was given Severus Snape, Lucius Malfoy and Skiving Snackboxes. This is what I came up with in response.

As this is my first attempt at a drabble, I think it may be too long at 210 words. But, hey what can you do right? I hope you like it.

Lucius entered Severus's office without knocking.

"What is the meaning of this, Severus?" he demanded, waving a parchment at Snape.

"Draco received detention," the Potions Master responded, never looking up from his grading.

"Why?" the blond demanded.

"He called Hermione Granger a Mudblood," Severus said evenly, setting down his quill.

"Granger is a Mudblood. Since when do you care if my son insults her?"

"Since she and I became lovers, Lucius."

"Lovers?" Lucius dropped into a chair shaking. "Does the Dark Lord know?"

"Of course he doesn't," Severus said. "You will not be telling him either, understood? Here, have a chocolate, it will calm you down."

Severus handed Lucius a box from a drawer in his desk. The other man opened it without reading the label and popped two chocolates into his mouth.

Standing, Lucius said, "Thank you, I will keep my mouth shut, but you will cancel Draco's detention."

Handing the box back to Severus, Lucius turned and left the office, never seeing the smirk on Severus' face or the purple tint to his own.

"I have to remember to thank the Weasley twins the next time I see them," Severus said to himself. Then replacing the lid on the Skiving Snackbox, Severus placed it back in his desk.