Chapter 1 of 1

Draco and Harry share a bottle of elf-made wine.

Disclaimer: I own nothing but the plot. Characters are JKR's, I just take them out for exercise.

"This – hic – is really good wine," Draco said and burst into giggles as he fell onto an armchair.

"I know!" Harry agreed, taking a huge gulp of his own glass. "What kind is it?" he asked, examining the glass as though it would tell him something.

"My elf made it," Draco replied.

"My elf," Harry mimicked. "Rich bastard," he admonished, motioning and sloshing wine over his sleeve.

"Oh, Potter," Draco sighed, clambering off the armchair and hugging Harry. "I love you."
