

My Enigma

by jasque

Random thoughts went through my head ... in the end I came up with this.

My Enigma

Chapter 1 of 1

Random thoughts went through my head ... in the end I came up with this.

A/N: Random thoughts flying through my head after reading HBP. You can say that this poem is of Hermione's thoughts on Professor Snape.

MY ENIGMA

Who is the man behind the black veil

Who walked these hollow halls

Searching for a prey

Preferring privacy to company

As Dungeons to Tower

And Black to White

This enigma in question

Haunts my thoughts

In both day and night

He masquerades in darkness

Building solid walls

Around his human form

Who is the man behind the black veil

Who walked these hollow halls

Searching for a prey
My questions will be unanswered
With his departure
On that frightful night
Forever he will remain to me
An Enigma
My Enigma