

Chain Reaction

by Antanaqui

I recently uncovered some poems. This one is about being plagued by thoughts while trying to sleep. I write poetry better than I write summaries, promise.

Chain Reaction

Chapter 1 of 1

I recently uncovered some poems. This one is about being plagued by thoughts while trying to sleep. I write poetry better than I write summaries, promise.

When I try to sleep,
I think,
And when I think,
I cry,
And when I cry,
I make a pact,
To never think again,
For when I think,
I think about you,
And how I wasted time,
Time I could have spent,
On looking on,
Time I wasted,
Trying to catch your eye,
So in this I say good night,
As I once again begin to cry.