Never Mind

Chapter 1 of 1

Written angst of a hopeless romantic.

Everything is one big "never mind."
I can't retreat into my head one more time
I might lose myself again
If I have one more "never mind"
I will cry myself to sleep
Why is everything not right?
I just might not put up a fight anymore.
I'm sick of everything as it is
There are more complicated things than a kiss
The bird flies,
The mockingbird sings,
But I cry out to the world
That I'm sorry for blaming him for everything.
But am I?
He was an outlet for my pain.
And now I have nothing to think upon.
Until one day,

When another boy shakes me awake,

And I am born anew.

So continues the life of a hopeless romantic.
