

'O' is for 'Outstanding'

by Alison

This is a quick drabble for all you SS/HG shippers out there. You know who you are!

Complete short story

Chapter 1 of 1

This is a quick drabble for all you SS/HG shippers out there. You know who you are!

The characters and the situations within this fanfiction story are not my property. They are the property of J.K. Rowling, Warner Brothers, and others, and are used without permission; challenge to copyright is not intended and should not be construed. No profit is being made from the use of these characters and situations; these written-down imaginings are only presented in an internet forum for the interest of and consumption by like-minded individuals who enjoy them and recognize them as unauthorized fanfiction only and are not in any way meant to be confused with the originals nor presented as authorized materials of these owners.

She was a war veteran, a hero instrumental in the defeat of Voldemort, and an extremely capable Unspeakable. She was also newly married and every nerve in her body was currently thrumming with sated pleasure.

Now Hermione gazed down with a smirk that could rival any of her husband's formerly-fearsome expressions. "Well," she murmured teasingly, watching him as he caught his breath and the focus came back into his eyes, "I think that one rates at least an 'E', don't you?"

She gave a little shriek of delighted laughter as he rolled her over so that she was pinned beneath his body.

"Only an 'E'?" Severus hissed in her ear, joining in the spirit of the game. "Oh no, that one is definitely worth an 'O'!"

Hermione attempted a show of surprise. "Unbelievable! You're giving me an 'Outstanding'?"

Severus's eyes were amused. "Who said anything about you, little witch? I was referring to my performance!"

The End

Author's note: If you liked this story, please have a read of my original story "Love Inhuman" at this link:

<http://www.thepetulantpoetess.com/viewstory.php?sid=11932>

Alison