My Time has come

Chapter 1 of 1

Please do not weep.

My Time Has Come

My thoughts have found something new to come around.

Although I know nothing about above, I do know of their love.

Their time has passed but they shall last.

Their gentle whispers tell me come hether.

Although I do decline I am not unkind.

I tell not at noon but I will follow soon.

I have to say goodbye and hear their remorseful cries.

I would like to stay eventhough I must go away.

I tell my loved ones not to weep because I will watch them as they sleep.

I now hear them calling but I try to keep on stalling.

I must go now for my time has come around.
