Crush

Chapter 1 of 1

Hermione has a compulsion.

Disclaimer: The sandbox belongs to J.K. Rowling. I only play here.

It was merely a compulsion on her part, and Hermione knew she needed to break it. She needed to stop wanting to see him. It was getting out of hand.

She even thought of wandering the halls of Hogwarts at night in the hopes of being caught by him so she could at least have an encounter with him. She was compelled to seek him out.

Sometimes she thought she was hexed to want to seek Snape out, but she knew it was just a serious, horribly soul throbbing crush. She needed to be near him, to see him. Always.
