

Voldie Sung to Windy by Ruthann Friedman

by JustJeanette

Another day, another filk. This one to Windy...

Voldie.

Chapter 1 of 1

Another day, another filk. This one to Windy...

Voldie Sung to Windy by Ruthann Friedman

As always, I don't own Harry Potter or anything else in that franchise nor do I own the lyrics or the music on which this song is based... The only thing I own is a demented mind as most of you have guessed by now.

Who's that killing all of the Muggles?

Striking down the Mudbloods he sees.

Who's that casting Avada Kedavra?

Everyone knows it's Voldie

Who's looking round for young Mr Potter?

Killing all of his friends with great ease

Who's reachin' out to capture his mind now?

Everyone knows it's Voldie

For Voldie had dark red eyes

That flash when the curses fly

And Voldie has hatred old

He'll kill them all (He'll kill them all)

He'll kill them all (He'll kill them all)

[Flute]

For Voldie had dark Red eyes

That flash when the curses fly

And Voldie has hatred old

He'll kill them all (He'll kill them all)

He'll kill them all (He'll kill them all)

Who's looking round for young Mr Potter?

Killing all of his friends with great ease

Who's reachin' out to capture his mind now?

Everyone knows it's Voldie

[Repeat And fade]

JustJeanette (Who is also just about out of songs; aren't you all lucky?)