Chapter 1 of 1

Harry and Draco come home to find their flat in ruins. What happened?

Shattered glass crunched under Draco's shoe as he stepped through the doorway. "Harry," he hissed, his eyes wide. He felt a familiar hand grip his shoulder.

"What happened here?" Harry whispered.

"Lumos!"

Light flared through their flat and illuminated the furniture.

"Harry," Draco snapped. Where his tone had been nervous before, it was now angry, irritated.

"What?"

"I knew this was going to happen! I knew it! This is all your fault!"

"ME? How is this MY fault?"

"You and your stupid pet snake!"

"Hey! What does Harry Jr. have to do with this?"

"You left his cage open!"

"Oh..."
