

Forbidden Passion

by Merlina Thalia

Hermione sees what no one else does

Chapter One

Chapter 1 of 1

Hermione sees what no one else does

A/N This is a poem I originally wrote about how Hermione feels about Snape, but it could work for Lucius, or even really Draco as well. A special thanks to my beta, ladyinthecloak.

Forbidden Passion

If they knew about us
They'd say it was wrong
They wouldn't understand
How our love could be so strong
When I look into your eyes
They don't see what I see
I see so much passion there
Reflected back at me
They just cannot know
That deep inside of you
Hiding from the world
Is a side they never knew
If they'd look inside my heart
They would see the proof

They would see my love for you

And then know the truth
