

Save Me

by Merlina Thalia

Snape can't take it anymore and needs Hermione

Chapter One

Chapter 1 of 1

Snape can't take it anymore and needs Hermione

A/N This is a poem I originally wrote for Lucius, but I think it works better for Snape. It's about how Snape is tired of fighting, and the war, etc., and is ready to give up, possibly near death, so he needs Hermione's help to keep going. (Those coming are the Death Eaters or could even be Death itself.) A special thanks to my beta, ladyinthecloak.

Save Me

I lay myself before you

Bare and broken

I can't take it anymore

No more words are spoken

I know I need someone

I can hear them calling

Won't you help me?

Please I am falling

Deeper and deeper

I think I'm drowning

I cannot breathe

My heart is pounding

Yet I can feel you

My guiding light

If you will have me

I will continue to fight
