

Love Betrayed

by JTBJAB

Severus finally fails at providing protection.

Love Betrayed

Chapter 1 of 1

Severus finally fails at providing protection.

He hadn't meant to have those feelings. He'd been told what to do. But as Snape sat there watching her, all those thoughts swept out of his head.

*

He had till midnight to think of something. She'd trusted him to protect her, to look after her.

*

He lifted his wand, took aim and said those deadly words. They slipped through his snarling lips and killed more than it intended. And as a tear slid down Snape's cheek, his Lord started laughing and the darkness swept towards him, shutting out the last of the light. I love you... Hermione...

AN: This was my first drabble, previously posted at gs100. I hope you enjoyed it!