

Accidental Giveaway

by Raychcons

Severus didn't realise he'd given the game away.

Accidental Giveaway

Chapter 1 of 1

Severus didn't realise he'd given the game away.

"That's when I saw the doe."

"Doe? What doe?"

And as Ron explained, Hermione began to cry. She knew who was watching over them. She had spoken with that doe, shared secret moments with its owner, and she knew they would never meet again. Not now.

"Hermione, what's wrong?" Harry asked, looking at her. Hermione shook her head--they were on the run now; she couldn't admit anything. So she would keep quiet until they were free once more. Only then could she be happy.

"I'm fine," Hermione assured her friends quietly. "I'm just fine." And she felt it.