Strawberries and Cream

*7.Prompt- Snape, Hermione, Lucius, strawberries and a bowl of cream. Details are up to the author, but I am sure there is a plot somewhere.*

Disclaimer: I do not own Harry Potter, but I still have that bowl of cream.

A/N: So many prompts but Snape, Hermione, Lucius, strawberries and a bowl of cream are too delicious to resist.

"Damn it, Malfoy, stop smirking," Snape growled, naked on the bed.

"Severus, stay still," Hermione commanded, applying more of the pink Itch Be-Gone Cream to his poison ivy induced rash.

"If it wasn't for you and you're damn strawberries," Severus muttered.

"If you had paid attention, you would've known the difference between strawberries and poison ivy," Lucius drawled from his chair before slipping a deliciously red strawberry in his mouth.

"Really now, Severus, you would think that a Potions master would know plants," Hermione added.

"Well, if I hadn't been so preoccupied with your tongue wrapping itself on that strawberry."
