You Fill Me Up

Chapter 1 of 1

She filled up his senses...

"You fill up my senses

Come fill me again..."

The song blared into his ears as he walked in, and a smile crossed his lips. He could smell the soft scent of dinner, and he could almost taste her kisses on his lips as he hung up his cloak. He moved forward and his hand rose to touch her curls. She didn't seem shocked, even though he'd entered silently. It was as though she was psychic...

When he looked at what she was cooking, he smiled. The cake rose, just like his beating heart.

"Come fill me again..." he whispered.
