Ravens

Chapter 1 of 1

Like ravens in the night, passing by in flight

Ravens in the night

Passing by in flight

Shreds of a coat once worn

Now just pieces of a man so torn

No resemblance is left

Like ravens in the night

Passing by in flight

His face no longer himself is seen

Just parts of the man he'd been

Shreds of a coat once worn

Pieces of a man so torn

His heart turned black and cold

His empty eyes, a story being told

The things he'd done, the things he'd seen

Parts of the man he'd been

Like ravens in the night

Passing by in flight

The parts of him

Scatter with the wind

Shreds of a coat once worn

A man so torn

Scattered on the wind

Tears in the night

Like ravens passing by in flight
