Quite Nice

Chapter 1 of 1

For the grangersnape100 'PR Inspired - Rum Punch & Nekkid Snape' challenge. There's something in the punch that inspires some very atypical behaviour.

He wasn't bad, really, Hermione meditated, sipping her rum punch. No Fred Astaire, of course, but if you ignored the way his dangly bits were moving, Snape was actually quite a good tap dancer. But then again (pouring another glass), why ignore his dangly bits? They were quite nice, too, actually. Probably better than Astaire's, but then, she wouldn't know. Hmm, how much more punch to shift Severus from a public exhibition of talent to a private one? Well, personal one, anyway.

Hermione never thought to wonder what was in the punch to have these effects in the first place.

Apologies to Fred Astaire and anyone related to him for dragging him into this insanity. -_-; That's what happens when I watch movies before writing drabbles...
