Strike a Pose

Chapter 1 of 1

Hermione plays with the new toy she's received for her birthday. Written for the GS100 'Snape's Birthday' challenge.

The sound of female giggles echoed down the corridor.

"Ooh, look, he's annoyed there!"

"And there! Hand on hip; 'I'm too good for you dunderheads.'"

Then the final straw. "Oh, Hermione, he looks like he's about to break-dance!" Followed by Ginevra Weasley's braying laughter.

"Hermione Granger-Snape!" he roared. "Put that away immediately!"

The laughter became muffled as Hermione sheepishly retrieved the box.

"I shouldn't've bought you that for your birthday, should I?" Ginny asked, grinning.

"It's rather bad for my character," Hermione admitted, "and Severus' ego. But don't worry; he's getting the pose-able figure of me for his birthday."

ANs: This little bit of nonsense was inspired by this toy, which followed me home right before I wrote this and is now sitting on my bookshelf. Looking indignant.
