

Chocolate Covered Special

by klschmidt

A humble submission for SW69's SPAM challenge on Potter Place's Yahoo group.
What does Hermione buy for Severus on Valentine's Day?

The challenge:

Email Title #1: Women love men with big lovesticks -- is yours big enough?

Email Title #2: Turn that tool in your pants into a power drill.

keywords?

1. either the entire phrase 1 or 2 or both
2. big lovestick
3. power drill
4. tool in your pants

Any pairing. Anything goes. However many words you can do, but you can keep it around 100 if you'd like.

Chocolate Covered Special

Chapter 1 of 1

A humble submission for SW69's SPAM challenge on Potter Place's Yahoo group. What does Hermione buy for Severus on Valentine's Day?

The challenge:

Email Title #1: Women love men with big lovesticks -- is yours big enough?

Email Title #2: Turn that tool in your pants into a power drill.

keywords?

1. either the entire phrase 1 or 2 or both
2. big lovestick
3. power drill
4. tool in your pants

Any pairing. Anything goes. However many words you can do, but you can keep it around 100 if you'd like.

Hermione couldn't resist her purchase from Honeydukes. The advertisement read "Big Lovesticks for your Valentine" above the display of chocolate-dipped pretzel rods.

Arriving back in their dungeon quarters, she found her husband in their laboratory. The simmering cauldron temporarily abandoned, Severus was engrossed in grading essays written by "third-year dunderheads." She wrapped her arms around his neck.

"I brought you some 'Big Lovesticks' to go along with the one you already have," she said, grinning at him.

Grading ceased as he turned to her. "Woman, you know the best way to get my tool in your pants is with chocolate!"