Severus, Hermione, Roses, and a Squid? By Pearle

Severus sat heavily; triple potions (he'd bleeding well kill whomever thought that one up) had taken a toll on his body, mind, and spirit.

Things couldn't get much worse.

Well, maybe they could, what was that smell? Skunk?

The odor was coming from somewhere to his left. Professor Granger's perfume or the platter of calamari sitting between them?

He looked suspiciously at the platter trying to conspicuously smell it and Granger at the same time.

"Severus, why are you smelling the fish?"

"I smelled the squid because I bloody well felt like it."

Granger smelled like...roses.

Must be the fish.

30-----a hippogriff

31-----a Squib

Pick the color of shirt you are wearing:

White-----because I can do whatever I want, damn it.

Black-----because I bloody felt like it.

Pink-----because I like Umbridge.

Red-----because the goblins told me to.

Blue-----because I'm a know-it-all.

Green-----because Professor Snape walked my way.

Purple-----because I lost my knickers!

Gray-----because Dumbledore said to and he's my leader.

Yellow-----because Malfoy offered me 1,000,000 Galleons.

Orange-----because my family were blood traitors.

Brown-----because I can--Voldemort said so!

Other-----because I'm a Death Eater!

None-----because I can't control myself!
