

What is that Sheep Wearing?

by HermioneWeasley1972

Chocolate can do more than give you pimples, especially when it comes from Fred and George.

A/N Thanks to Kelley for her suggestions and coaching. This little drabble was part of Truth or Dare that we did on Friday, April 18th, while waiting for the post DH challenge results.

One shot

Chapter 1 of 1

Chocolate can do more than give you pimples, especially when it comes from Fred and George.

A/N Thanks to Kelley for her suggestions and coaching. This little drabble was part of Truth or Dare that we did on Friday, April 18th, while waiting for the post DH challenge results.

Disclaimer - I didn't make up HP. JKR did. I'm just responsible for the insanity of this story.

It was a normal day at the Burrow. Normal, that is, except for the sheep that was wearing red heels. Molly had a feeling that she knew who was responsible, so she went right to the twins' room.

"Hey, Mum," Fred said, watching as his mother came into the room.

"I suppose you know why I am here."

"Let me guess. Something about a sheep, right?" George asked.

"Who is that sheep and where is Hermione?"

"Well, you see, Mum..." started George.

"... we were trying a new line of sweets out..." continued Fred.

"... and she was looking for some chocolate," finished George.

"You turned your sister in law into a sheep?"

"Well, technically, it was the sweet," said Fred, an innocent grin on his face.

"She didn't have to eat it." George's shoulders shrugged in response.

"What about the red heels?"

"You'll have to ask Ron about that one, Mum," Fred said, laughing.

Molly shook her head. "But why a sheep?"

"I think at the time she was talking about Ron pulling the wool over her eyes..."