Chapter 1 of 1

Luna Lovegood visits New Orleans and learns something new.

Luna Lovegood stood on the sidelines watching the parade going along its route. The war was over, and she had thought it might be nice to take a holiday. Having heard that New Orleans was a nice place to visit, she thought that it was the perfect place. She had come during something called Mardi Gras. She didn't know what it was, but it appeared to mean that everyone should show their breasts and get pissed. After all, everyone seemed to be doing that.

When the parade was over, she walked along the street and looked in the different shops. She came to a shop where there was someone gazing into a crystal ball.

"Would you like your fortune told, my dear?" the woman asked.

"Sure, but I know that you are a fake. After all, Professor Trelawney was for the most part."

"You are named Luna Lovegood, no?" the woman asked, looking at her.

"I was the last time I checked," Luna said, sitting down.

"I did not go to Hogwarts, but I have studied the art of Divination. Let me have your hand, Luna." The woman took her hand and gazed at it. "The man you think is your father is not your father."

"I call him father."

"But he did not give you life. Your real father is Lucius Malfoy. And Draco is your brother."

Luna opened her eyes. It had all been a dream. "Well, I guess it would make sense if he was. After all, we both have blonde hair."
