

But You Need It

by ladyofthemasque

100 sultry-hot words of what he really needs.

But You Need It

Chapter 1 of 1

100 sultry-hot words of what he really needs.

"Please," Hermione whispered.

"No."

"But you need it!" she begged, touching his arms.

"Absolutely not." Severus folded his arms across his chest.

The intimidating pose didn't phase her; he was sweating and clearly needed it. "I'll help you..."

"I said no."

"Pouting only makes me more adamant," she reminded him. "Besides, it's too hot to wear all that black wool."

"I'll cast a Cooling Charm."

"We're at the beach, among Muggles," Hermione stated. "Get your coat off."

"Every time I take my coat off, you attack me like a niffler at Gringotts! We're at the beach!"

She smirked. "I know."